OPERATION PERFORMED ON JUDGE C. A. MAYER

While Visiting Relatives in Germantown is Stricken With Serious Illness.

Judge C. A. Mayer was operated on Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Germantown hospital. About three weeks ago Judge Mayer went to Germantown to visit his son-in-law, Col. J. B. Coryell, and family and while there took a violent cold. Inflamation of the bladder ensued, causing him intense suffering. He was reported improved a few days ago, but a turn for the worse set in later and after a consultation of his physicians, an operation was decided upon to save his life. Reports from Germantown, after the operation, say that the judge could not have lived had the operation not been performed. His host of friends in Lock Haven hope for his speedy recovery to health again, and will rejoice at any favorable news as to his condition.

Judge Mayer held an argument court in the court house just a month ago Friday and although he had not been well previous to this, he was enjoying fair health when he left for Germantown to visit relatives.

The 15th of last December he celebrated his 75th birthday quietly among relatives at his home in this city. He is serving his fourth term as president judge of the Clinton, Cameron and Elk district, a continuous service of 37 years, having first been elected judge in 1868. Few common pleas judges in the state are better known than Judge Mayer and there is a widespread interest in this county and judicial district in his recovery to health.

A letter written at 7 o'clock Sunday night to Moore Fredericks, cashier of the First National Bank of this city, says: "News from hospital says they are all pleased at Judge Hayer's condition. No fever, pulse regular and general condition good and is doing well. Nurse in charge says he has not told any stories since operation, but did before operation."

A telephone message on Monday from Miss Helen Mayer stated that they were all encouraged at the progress her father was making, that he was gaining a little every day and that the prospects were good for his recovery. The family are now permitted to visit the judge at the Germantown hospital. —Wednesday's Lock Haven Republican. Mr. B. W. Green, of this place, received a letter from Col. Coryell on Tuesday, in which the writer sasy: "He went through the operation splendidly and the doctors inform us that if no complications arise he is certain of recovery and will be stronger physically than he has been for some time. His splendid physical condition was greatly in his favor."

Fortune Telling a Great Sin.

Last week I was examining timber lands in West Virginia and our party made their headquarters at a farm house back 11 miles from the railroad.

I wore a cap in the woods and when I came away I forgot to exchange it and left my derby hat at the farm house and when I went back after it the farmer's wife exclaimed, "Oh I hope nothing dreadful will happen to you but it is bad luck to come back after you start on a journey." Nothing dreadful did happen, all the trains were on time and I arrived safely at home where all the family and friends were well.

God is good and just, and all these signs and omens are foolish and cowardly, so are all kinds of fortune telling and gambling. A great many people have their fortunes told thoughtlessly and for fun, and perhaps it would not make much difference if the fortune tellers confined their idle tales to pleasant flatteries, and promises of large fortunes and early marriages, but when they tell of ugly accidents and much sufferings to kind friends and parents and children, then it is nothing but wicked cruelty and heartless quackery to obtain a few pieces of silver. People should not countenance it, even in fun, and we should not for a minute forget that the church is continually saying to us that, "Almighty God the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ desires not the hurt of any saint or sinner."

While a thoughtless and cruel boy may pull a cat's tail or scare and stone a stray dog, God is neither a cruel king nor a thoughtless kid and we should make it unprofitable for all grafters after loose money who try to flatter or scare us with idle and silly prophesies of ghosts, goblins and gold bricks.

Respectfully,
JOSIAH HOWARD.

The Two-Cent Railway Fare.

At a time when the railways operating in Ohio are fighting a newly passed law making two cents a mile the maximum passenger rate on all lines in the state, New England roads are accommodating themselves to what seems the inevitable. Experience has shown that it is now the proper maximum, and there is no doubt that in a short time it will be established all over the country east of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers.

The railway managers do not like the idea, says the Philadelphia Inquirer, but it is not certain it will be a disadvantage. The principle of least resistence works very strongly in al traffic matters. The man who can travel for two cents a mile takes more rides than the one who has to pay three. Probably it would be impossible to show that any railway charging the two cent rate is not making money out of its passenger business. In this state we have all sorts of rates from less than a cent for commuters to three cents or more for the ordinary rider. We doubt if there would be any loss of revenue from the adoption of a maximum two cent rate and it would remove many causes of agitation.

One would suppose that the experiment would be worth trying rather than spending immense sums in litigation which can only result in arousing public resentment. Public opinion is worth a great deal and public traffic follows opinion.

Effective Remedy.

It is said that a candidate for parliament at the recent English elections, while justifying flogging in the army, remarked: "There is no necessary disgrace in being flogged. I was once flogged myself, and it was for telling the truth, too." "It seems to have cured ye," said a voice from the back of the hall. This story was also first told about Prof. Mahaffy, of Dublin, Father Healy, of Bray, making the retort.

How About Defeat?

Art has its charms for the illiterate. A copy of "The Winged Victory" was placed last summer in the library of the University of Rochester. A workman assisting in the operation surveyed the headless and armless statue with interest. "An' what may ye call that fellow?" he asked. "That's the statue of 'Victory'," said the librarian. 'Victory' is it?" said the man; begorra, I'd like to see the other fellow, thin."

Needed Revision.

A bill is before parliament for the revision of certain ancient Scottish laws. Among them are: "That na Scottisman bring in the realme ony Inglismen." "That all personis sall cum to Courtis in sobyr and quiet maner." "That na Inglisman have benefice within Scotlande." Also the statute of "wapynaschawingis ridaris and gangaris throu the center."

Just as We Think.

Of course there is no future for stale brains, or for a man who stands still and ceases to grow. He is old who thinks he is old, and useless who thinks he is useless. When a man has ceased to grow he begins to die, and many people are half dead at 50, not because of their age, but because of their mental attitude, because of the way they face life.—Success Magazine.

Statues with Top-Hats.

Some of the London newspapers are arguing over the number of statues with "top hats" there are in existence. One is a statue of the late President Kruger that never reached Pretoria and lies in a yard at Durban. Mrs. Kruger stipulated that the top of the hat should be left open so as to hold rainwater for the birds.

McKinley's Optimism.

President McKinley once said:

"Always peril, and always after them safety always darkness and clouds, but always shining through them the light and the sunshine; always cost and sacrifice, but always after them the fruition of liberty, education and civilization."

Need No Rocking.

In Alaska the papoose is placed in a kind of waving cradle, into which it is securely tied, the whole being fastened to a young sapling fir planted in the ground in a slanting direction; it moves up and down at the slightest provocation. In summer the baby is left for hours together outside.

Got His Dates Mixed.

At a christening in the wilds of Missouri, while the minister was recording the event, he happened to say:

"Let me see—isn't this the 27th?"

"I should say not," retorted the indignant mother, "it's only the ninth."—Chicago Daily News.

Prefer the Money.

"Richley's children are all quarreling over his estate."

"Why? To see who'll get his valuable art collection?"

"No; to see who won't get it."—Detroit Free Press.

Speaking of Women.

"One peculiarity about the feminine sex seems to be the impossibility of discussing it with moderation; critics are either violently antagonistic or falsely complimentary," says Lady Violet Greville, in the London Graphic.

Ambulance for Dogs.

The Bristol (Eng.) home for lost and starving dogs has provided an ambulance on cycle wheels for the conveyance of injured dogs to the institution.

Sailor's Wish.

An English sailor on the battleship Albion expressed, when dying in port, a wish to be buried at sea. The Albion went to sea expressly to carry out the wish.

PROSPERITY INCREASING.

Will Continue Unchecked for Years If Discontent Does Not Creep In.

A bulletin just issued by the department of commerce states that American exports for eight months ending with February exceeded in value those for eight months ending with February, 1905, by $190,000,000. Of this increase $133,000,000 was of agricultural products, while $45,000,000 was of manufactures.

By themselves, says the Chicago Inter Ocean, these figures mean little but considered in their proper relations they give a striking indication of our national prosperity. And to understand what these relations are we must remember that there are four great groups of articles of foreign commerce, three consisting of both imports and exports and a fourth of imports alone. The progress of foreign trade with respect to each of these groups is here summarized on the basis of the figures of each for the first seven or eight months of the last three fiscal years—the months ending with January or February.

1. Foodstuffs, agricultural exports, and food imports. This is still our largest class of exports. Its value was $700,000,000 for the period ending with February last, as against $567,000,000 and $658,000,000 for the same periods ending with February in 1905 and 1904. It grows, but irregularly, from year to year, according to the harvests here and abroad. Food imports are practically stationary, now ranging around $80,000,000 for the period. But for our failure so far to develop as we might sugar and coffee growing in our new possessions these imports would decline rapidly.

2. Materials, raw or partly manufactured, of industry. Our mine and forest exports are practically stationary and tend to decline. We are using these products more and more at home. But our imports of materials are increasing steadily. They were $199,000,000 in the eight months ending with February, 1904; $231,000,000 for the period ending with February, 1905; had already reached $221,000,000 by the end of last January, and by the end of the year will doubtless break all records.

3. Manufactures. Imports practically stationary, ranging now around $12,000,000 for the period and tending to decline. Exports growing steadily and rapidly, and increased from $288,000,000 for the period ending with February, 1904, to $342,000,000 for the period ending with February, 1905, to $387,000,000 for the period ending with last February.

4. Luxuries; imports only. They were $6,000,000 for the period ending with February, 1904; $9,000,000 for the period ending with February, 1905, and about $12,500,000 for the period ending with last February.

These figures show prosperity all along the line. Those of the second and third groups are particularly interesting. The prosperity of our agricultural interests requires no argument. These figures show that not only is this nation one of the world's great food storehouses, but that it is also becoming its greatest workshop.

We are selling to other countries less of our materials and buying more of theirs. We are buying less of their manufactures and selling them more and more of ours. We are strengthening our position as increasers of the value of commodities by industry. And our increasing purchases of luxuries show that not only are we doing more work, but that it is also profitable work, giving us money to spend for things not necessary.

There is no question about our great and increasing prosperity. And, while all things human are transitory, there is no question that this exuberant prosperity will be unchecked for some years, if we do not become discontented with it and spoil it by failing to treat the conditions and institutions under which it has been attained with common sense.

NOTHING LIKE A BARGAIN.

This Country Will Continue to Control Its Tariff and Administration.

Although the concession is but for one year, it may be safely assumed that by next year at this time a permanent arrangement will be made, and that it will not be as the result of a fake reciprocity treaty or any other concession or agreement by virtue of which we lose control of the provisions of our tariff laws or the methods of their administration, says the San Francisco Chronicle.

Appearances indicate that the German government is about ready to accept in its dealings with us the American principle of impartial trade. We give to Germany in most cases and should give it all the benefit of our Dingley rates, which are our minimum rates. In return we expect Germany's minimum rates, and if we do not get them we shall have to create some maximum rates for the benefit of Germany and some other countries. A good many preposterous stories have got into print as to certain things which the "president" was to do for Germany "on the quiet" in return for the concession of her minimum rates to us. One was to the effect that the president was to instruct our delegates to the Algeciras conference to side with Germany against France. Another, equally absurd, was to the effect that the president was to instruct the treasury officials to shut their eyes to undervaluations of German commodities subject to ad valorem duties in this country. The president has no authority to do either of those things and if he had the authority it is an insult to suggest that he would sell the American vote at a diplomatic conference, or order treasury officials to violate their official oaths. There has been no bargain made. There will be no bargain made. Germany and the United States will remain two friendly nations and each will manage its revenue laws to suit itself. But, as we expect most favored nation treatment from Germany, we should give it to her in return, which means the abrogation of all treaties which prevent it.

THE SHOE PINCHES THERE

Point in Protective Tariff That Is Perfectly Plain to the Workingman.

Suppose that to please Gov. Guild and ex-Gov. Douglas and our manufacturers of boots and shoes we should repeal the duty on hides, says the American Economist. We should also, of course, at the same time repeal the duty on boots and shoes. That having been done, our market would be open to the product of foreign countries, and in a very short time there would be an inundation of footwear into this country against which our own manufacturers would have to compete. In order to meet this importation and be able to sell boots and shoes in our own market in competition with those from abroad it would be necessary to make them as cheaply. The cost of material being the same in both countries, there would remain nothing to bring about equality in the cost of production except wages. The consequence would be, the wages of all the people in this country engaged in making boots and shoes would have to go down to the level of wages abroad, which is about half the amount now paid here. This result would be most unfortunate in itself, but there would be other effects to follow. There are at present considerably over 200,000 people engaged in making boots and shoes, and the purchasing power of these people would at once be cut in half. In many towns and villages boot and shoe making is the only occupation of a large portion of the people. To cut in half the wages of the people would mean the large diminution of their trade with all classes of the community. This would be reflected in buying the merchandise of others, so that the result would be far spreading. It would be well to consider seriously before taking the duty off from hides and boots and shoes—to estimate thoroughly this matter of reduction of wages.

There Has Been a Change.

The disappearance of the German tariff war cloud upsets many calculations regarding the congressional campaign of 1906. The free traders welcomed the prospect and the American Reciprocal Tariff league was preparing to go into every doubtful district in the middle west and convert the present protectionist majority in the lower house into a tariff ripping force that by a coalition with the Democrats would control action in favor of wide open reciprocity in competitive products and an all-round revision of the Dingley schedules. Germany's unwillingness to begin hostilities has changed the situation. It gives reciprocity a serious setback and leaves the revisionists short of ammunition. The country is to be congratulated upon the good sense of the standpatters in refusing to be scared by the German threat.—American Economist.

☞Nobody but a pessimist can believe that this country will be as bad as the socialists say it is.—Toledo Blade.

☞Vesuvius should do all its spouting before Bryan gets around that way on his tour. Bryan is a dangerous rival.—Philadelphia Press.

☞We have neither tariff nor shipping laws that drive American boats from the oceans. All shipbuilding material is free. Every newspaper of foreign leanings is against the pending measure. That is a matter of course.—Buffalo News.

COAL MINERS

Make Proposition to Anthracite Operators.

HOLD CONVENTION

To Discuss Answer of Mine Owners, if Any is Received, in Reply to Demand.

Wilkesbarre, Pa.—The anthracite miners will hold a convention at Scranton next Thursday in order to take action upon the reply of the operators, if any, to two propositions submitted to President Baer and his associates Thursday.

The decision to call a convention of the miners of the three districts was reached at a meeting of the general anthracite scale committee held here Thursday.

President Mitchell Thursday night made public two propositions, together with a request for another joint conference submitted by the miners' scale committee to President Baer and his associates. The first proposition asks for an increase in wages ranging from 5 to 15 per cent., according to the wages now received. The second proposition asks for an advance equal to 10 cents per ton upon the total production of coal, to be added to the wages of employes and apportioned in such percentage as may be agreed upon. In formulating these two propositions the committee says:

"We have eliminated every feature of our former proposals to which you have objected except that of wages, and in the matter of wages we have kept in mind your oft-repeated statement that to grant our original demands would result in advancing the cost to the consumer of domestic coal $1.20 per ton. While we have not been able, even by the most careful analysis, to ascertain by what process of reasoning you have reached your conclusions as to the alleged necessity of an advance in cost amounting to $1.20 per ton, we beg to assure you that we have no desire, neither would we consent to become parties to any compact that would increase the cost of domestic fuel $1.20 per ton.

"As indicated in the two propositions submitted herein, we propose a resumption of work upon a basis that would increase the labor cost of all coal produced by an amount not in excess of 10 cents per ton, and as between 60 and 70 per cent. of all coal produced is sold as prepared sizes, the increase in the labor cost of domestic fuel would not exceed 16 cents per ton.

"Our committee will await at Wilkesbarre your reply to the propositions herein submitted. Or, if agreeable to you, we shall be pleased to meet your committee at any time and place you may suggest."

New York.—The Anthracite mine operators, through their sub-committee of seven, at a meeting here Friday, drew up a reply to the latest proposition of the mine workers for an adjustment of the existing difference in the anthracite fields, in which they refuse to modify their position heretofore announced. The operators call upon the miners to renew for a period of three years the award of the anthracite strike commission or else to accept the operators' proposition that the strike commission arbitrate the question as to what changes, if any, shall be made in the scale of wages fixed by the commission in its original award. The miners have heretofore declined this offer.

THANKS FOR GEN. PORTER.

For His Enterprise in Finding the Body of John Paul Jones.

Washington, D. C.—A resolution extending the thanks of the country to Gen. Horace Porter, ex-ambassador to France, for his enterprise in securing the body of John Paul Jones, was presented in the house Thursday by Representative Smith, of Michigan. The text of the resolution follows:

"That, regarding with pride the achievements of their countryman, Horace Porter, the distinguished soldier, orator and diplomat, the thanks of the people of the United States are eminently due and are hereby tendered to him, as a tribute to his extraordinary enterprise and diligence in reclaiming the body of America's first naval hero, John Paul Jones, whose place of interment in Paris more than a century ago was entirely lost sight of by his countrymen, and the discovery of whose remains has again revived general public interest in his heroic deeds of valor and daring as the chief naval officer of our revolutionary period."

Secretary Bonaparte has recommended to Senator Hale and Mr. Foss, chairman of the house naval affairs committee, an appropriation of $135,000 for finishing the crypt of the chapel of the naval academy at Annapolis which is to be the final resting place of the body of John Paul Jones, in a manner appropriate to such purpose.

TRADE BULLETIN.

Dun's Weekly Review Sees a Bright Outlook.

New York.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Modified demands by the anthracite coal miners increase the chances of an early settlement of the controversy, and otherwise the labor situation is unusually free from friction for this season. Weather conditions are favorable for retail trade and building operations, while the crop outlook is bright on the whole, although some sections report delay to planting on account of the excessive moisture, and there is much complaint regarding the scarcity of labor.

Manufacturing plants are working to their full capacity in the leading industries, especially iron furnaces and steel mills.

Mercantile collections are somewhat irregular, which may be traced to financial stringency.

Scarcity of billets, sheets and bars is the striking feature of the iron and steel industry.

Failures this week numbered 215 in the United States, against 204 last year, and 20 in Canada, compared with 15 a year ago.

Franklin Statue Unveiled.

Trocadoro square was occupied by the republican guards in brilliant uniforms and the grand stand facing the statue was richly decorated with the French and American colors. A battery of artillery fired a salute of 21 guns as the statue was unveiled. Minister of Instruction Barthou pronounced an eulogy of Franklin.

Indictd for Fraud.

Chicago, Ill. — Ex-Judge Abner Smith, of this city, Jerome V. Pierce, Sustof F. Sorrow and F. E. Creelman were indicted Friday for fraud. There are nine counts to each indictment. Sorrow was vice president of the bank, Pierce cashier and Creelman a director.

Price of Coal Decreasing.

Columbus, O. — Chairman John H. Winder, of the operators of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, gave out Friday reports that he had received from the executive officers of the Operators' association in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. The reports show that 15 per cent. of the possible tonnage of the state of Ohio is at work, that 6 per cent. is at work in Indiana and 7 per cent. in Illinois. He said that the price of coal was decreasing.

People Were Scared.

Marinette, Wis. — The people of Quinnisec, Mich., had an earthquake scare Thursday, when over an acre of ground over the workings of an abandoned mine suddenly went down with a great roar, carrying a number of buildings with it. It was thought for a time that a great part of the town would go, but when the true cause of the cave-in was ascertained the fears of the people were calmed. Considerable damage was done.

Faculty Resigns.

Startled San Francisco Wednesday.

KILLED A WOMAN.

Food is in Plentiful Supply—The Mayor Requests That Only Unperishable Food be Sent.

San Francisco, Cal. — At 3:15 o'clock Wednesday afternoon a shock of earthquake was felt. It lasted nearly a minute and caused considerable alarm and one woman was killed. A number of walls of buildings which were burned were thrown down and frail buildings were considerably shaken up, but the damage done was slight.

The shock was felt in Oakland and Berkeley, but in these places it was very slight and of brief duration.

An idea of the task which confronts the food commission may be gained from the fact that throughout the city rations for 349,440 persons were distributed Tuesday. This is an average estimate based on reports from a few of the food depots. At one point provisions were given out to 672 persons an hour for ten hours. This station is neither one of the largest nor one of the smallest, and so its reports were used as a basis to strike an average.

All flour that was received in sacks is exchanged at bakeries pound for pound for bread. Almost all the bakeries in the unburned region have opened and are selling bread at five cents a loaf.

There is no danger of a meat famine. Representatives of the Western Meat Co. in south San Francisco reported to the relief committee Wednesday morning that there are now in the yards 1,500 cattle, 3,000 sheep and 500 hogs.

More than 200 cattle are killed and dressed daily and sheep and hogs are put under the knife as fast as they arrive.

In the distribution of clothing, precautions aganst fraud will be taken by squads detailed to visit each tent or shelter and list the occupants and tabulate their wants. Orders will be given out entitling the holders to the needed clothing, bedding or other stores.

Pitiful stories of suffering from exposure, ignorance and helplessness are flooding the relief committee.

The surgeon in charge of the general hospital at the Presidio states that his force is perfectly organized and that 75 members of the army nurse corps are due at the Presidio from Chicago Thursday. They will be divided between the Presidio and emergency hospitals of the city. Since the beginning of the calamity 20 deaths have occurred in the general hospital.

That San Francisco is to be rebuilt on better and more beautiful lines is indicated by the fact that James D. Phelan, chairman of the Improvement association of San Francisco, Tuesday dispatched telegrams to Architect Daniel V. Burnham and his assistant, Mr. Bennett, of Chicago, to come immediately to San Francisco to take up the work planned two years ago.

San Francisco, Cal.—The relief work has made rapid progress. It is now in the hands of the military authorities and has been perfected and systematized until the feeding and sheltering of the thousands of hungry and homeless people is going on expeditiously. There is still a scarcity of sugar and coffee, and an urgent and pressing need for more blankets, cots and tents, owing to the unusual cold nights for this season of the year, which now prevail.

Restoration of the telephone system is making good headway. Forty telephones were in operation Wednesday, but the dynamiting of walls temporarily put some of them out of commission again.

The Dairy Men's association has announced that it will furnish milk free to the relief organizations until May 1.

For the first time since the earthquake street lights were burning in San Francisco Thursday night.

Sixteen thousand persons are now being cared for at the Presidio, most of them in tents. All the available tents are in use, but a supply of about 50,000 is expected in a day or two, when everyone needing shelter will be provided for. There is no contagious disease in or around the grounds.

San Francisco, Cal. — Harmony and pledges of good feeling marked the meetings Friday of the various bodies of citizens' committees and representatives of the army which are administering the affairs of San Francisco.

The last sign of confusion and misunderstanding which at times existed disappeared and the first signs of the return to former conditions were the resumption of street car traffic in certain streets and the taking out of the first permit for the erection of a modern steel structure on the ground occupied a few days ago by a less substantial building.

Cigarette Law is Valid.

Indianapolis, Ind. — The Parks anti-cigarette law passed by the last session of the Indiana legislature was declared valid Thursday by the supreme court. The court interpreted the law as meaning that it is illegal to sell cigarettes in Indiana or keep them for sale, but it is not illegal to smoke them or bring them into state.

Killed by a Train.

Chicago, Ill. — Charles L. Stirson, formerly a steel manufacturer of Rutland, Vt., was killed Thursday by a passenger train at Forest, a suburb.

CAN'T STRAIGHTEN UP.

Kidney Trouble Causes Weak Backs and a Multitude of Pains and Aches.

Col. R. S. Harrison, Deputy Marshal, 716 Common St., Lake Charles, La., says: "A kick from a horse first weakened my back and affected my kidneys. I became very bad, and had to go about on crutches. The doctors told me I had a case of chronic rheumatism, but I could not believe them, and finally began using Doan's Kidney Pills for my kidneys. First the kidney secretions came more freely, then the pain left my back. I went and got another box, and that completed a cure. I have been well for two years."

HIS KIND CAME IN BUNCHES

Then Hubby Was Sorry He Had Taken Any Interest in Dreams.

Some time ago, in New York city, a man was wakened in the night to find his wife weeping, uncontrollably, relates Harper's Magazine.

"My darling," he said, in distress, "what is the matter?"

"A dream!" she gasped. "I have had such a horrible dream."

Her husband begged her to tell it to him, in order that he might comfort her. After long persuasion she was induced to say this:

"I thought I was walking down Broadway, and I came to a warehouse, where there was a large placard, 'Husbands for Sale.' You could get beautiful ones for $1,500, and very nice ones for as low as $100."

The husband asked, innocently: "Did you see any that looked like me?"

The sobs became strangling. "Dozens of them," gasped the wife, "done up in bunches, like asparagus, and sold for ten cents a bunch."

RUNNING SORES ON LIMBS.

Little Girl's Obstinate Case of Eczema —Mother Says: "Cuticura Remedies a Household Standby."

"Last year, after having my little girl treated by a very prominent physician for an obstinate case of eczema, I resorted to the Cuticura Remedies, and was so well pleased with the almost instantaneous relief afforded that we discarded the physician's prescription and relied entirely on the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Pills. When we commenced with the Cuticura Remedies her feet and limbs were covered with running sores. In about six weeks we had her completely well, and there has been no recurrence of the trouble. We find that the Cuticura Remedies are a valuable household standby, living as we do twelve miles from a doctor, and where it costs from twenty to twenty-five dollars to come up on the mountain. ### Merely a Suggestion.

Why not assemble all the euthanasia cranks who wish to kill off the old and "incurable" people in one inclosure and all the cranks who produce schemes for the abolition of death in another inclosure, organize them into football teams and then turn them loose and let them procced to exterminate one another in true football style?—Chicago Chronicle.

MIDDLE LIFE

A Time When Women Are Susceptible to Many Dread Diseases—Intelligent Women Prepare for it. Two Relate their Experiences.

The "change of life" is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and the anxiety felt by women as it draws near is not without reason.

Every woman who neglects the care of her health at this time invites disease and pain.

When her system is in a deranged condition, or she is predisposed to apoplexy, or congestion of any organ, the tendency is at this period likely to become active—and with a host of nervous irritations make life a burden. At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to form and begin their destructive work.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness, inquietude, and dizziness, are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life. It invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system.

For special advice regarding this important period women are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and it will be furnished absolutely free of charge. The present Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, her assistant before her decease, and for twenty-five years since her advice has been freely given to sick women.

Read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound did for Mrs. Hyland and Mrs. Hinkle:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I had been suffering with displacement of the organs for years and was passing through the change of life. My abdomen was badly swollen; my stomach was sore; I had dizzy spells, sick headaches, and was very nervous.

"I wrote you for advice and commenced treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as you directed, and I am happy to say that all those distressing symptoms left me and I have passed safely through the change of life, a well woman. I am recommending your medicine to all my friends."—Mrs. Annie E. G. Hyland, Chestertown, Md.

Another Woman's Case

"During change of life words cannot express what I suffered. My physician said I had a cancerous condition of the female organs. One day I read some of the testimonials of women who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I decided to try it and to write you for advice. Your medicine made me a well woman, and all my bad symptoms soon disappeared.

"I advise every woman at this period of life to take your medicine and write you for advice."—Mrs. Lizzie Hinkle, Salem, Ind.

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Hyland and Mrs. Hinkle it will do for other women at this time of life.

It has conquered pain, restored health, and prolonged life in cases that utterly baffled physicians.

Dear Sir: There is endless discussion about the barytes in paint. Perhaps this settles the question.

Two houses exactly alike at Delhi, N. Y., the owner of both is Mr. N. Avery. One was recently painted Devoe; the other with a barytes paint; same painter did both jobs; his name is George Gilbert.

One cost $27; the other $54. The first took 6 gallons; the other 12. Six gallons Devoe, as to covering, equals twelve of the other.

Yours truly,

Sciatica Cured For Twenty Years of Torture.

For more than twenty years Mr. J. B. Massey of 3322 Clinton St., Minneapolis, Minn., was tortured by sciatica. The pain and suffering which he endured during this time is beyond comprehension. Nothing gave him any permanent relief until he used Chamberlains Pain Balm. One application of that liniment relieved the pain and made sleep and rest possible, and less than one bottle has effected a permanent cure. If troubled with sciatica or rheumatism why not try a 25 cent bottle of Pain Balm and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the pain. For sale by L. Taggart; J. E. Smith, Sterling Run; Crum Bros., Sinnamahoning.

After marriage many a man discovers that he trifled with the wrong girl.

It Is Dangerous to Neglect a Cold.

How often do we hear it remarked: "It's only a cold," and a few days later learn that the man is on his back with pneumonia. This is of such common occurrence that a cold, however slight, should not be disregarded. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia, and has gained its great popularity and extensive sale by its prompt cures of this most common ailment. It always cures and is pleasant to take. For sale by L. Taggart; J. E. Smith, Sterling Run; Crum Bros., Sinnamahoning.

Work builds a wall against most of the tempter's wiles.

Not if as Rich as Rockefeller.

If you had all the wealth of Rockefeller, the Standard Oil magnate, you could not buy a better medicine for bowel complaints than Chamberlain's Colic, cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The most eminent physicians can not prescribe a better preparation for colic and diarrhoea, both for children and adults. The uniform success of this remedy has shown it to be superior to all others. It never fails, and when reduced with water and sweetened is pleasant to take. Every family should be supplied with it. Sold by L. Taggart; J. E. Smith, Sterling Run; Crum Bros., Sinnamahoning.

A good complexion is impossible with the stomach out of order. If pasty sallow people would pay more attention to their stomachs and less to the shine on their faces, they would have better complexions. Kodol relieves palpitation of the heart, flatulence, sour stomach, heart burn, etc. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

Matrimony has destroyed many a sweet and pleasant delusion.

It is possible to obtain relief from chronic indigestion and dyspepsia by the use of KODOL FOR DYSPEPSIA. Some of the most hopeless cases of long standing have yielded to it. It enables you to digest the food you eat and exercises a corrective influence, building up the efficiency of the digestive organs. The stomach is the boiler wherein the steam is made that keeps up your vitality, health and strength. Kodol digests what you eat. Makes the stomach sweet—puts the boiler in condition to do the work nature demands of it—gives you relief from digestive disorders, and puts you in shape to do your best, and feel your best. A GOOD NIGHT'S REST

"Speak for it!" she cried to doggie,
For she knew in her little heart,
That German Syrup, home's great treasure
Could health and joy impart.

¶The greatest tonic on earth is a good night's rest. Restless nights and the terrible exhaustion of a hacking cough are dread dangers of the poor consumptive. ¶But why this fear of the night when a few doses of Dr. Boschee's German Syrup will insure refreshing sleep, entirely free from cough or night sweat? Free expectoration in the morning is made certain by taking German Syrup.
¶We know by the experience of over thirty-five years that one 75-cent bottle of German Syrup will speedily relieve or cure the worst coughs, colds, bronchial or lung troubles—and that, even in bad cases of consumption, one large bottle of German Syrup will work wonders. 12
¶Two sizes, 25c and 75c. All druggists.

R. C. DODSON.

Echoes and Architects.

"It is possible to make echoes," said an architect. "It is, indeed, easier to make than to destroy them. In the past men built their great temples and cathedrals with no thought of acoustics; hence when the preacher preached echoes rolled freely amid the groinings of the roof, down the rows of sculptured columns and round and round the nave. With wires strung here and with tapestries spread there, many of the echoes of the old world buildings have been obliterated. There are echo experts—builders acquainted with the science of acoustics whose specialty is echoes' destruction. Sometimes their tasks are hard. Today an architect takes thought of the echo. His building is constructed so as to exclude this intruder. And, knowing how to exclude it, he knows how to welcome it also. I have frequently in landscape work put up summer houses and arranged rocks so as to create an echo there."—Exchange.

Health In Emporium

T. Taggart Says Care of Digestion Solves Problem of Long Life.

Not one in Emporium has a better chance than the druggist to know the condition of the city's health, and what diseases are the most common.
L. Taggart believes that the problem of long life is solved by proper care of the digestive organs. Let the stomach get out of condition and soon there will be nervousness, irritation, furred tongue, specks before the eyes, weakness, debility, indigestion, and other physical and mental troubles that directly result from a weakened stomach.
Of all the vital organs, the stomach is the most frequently abused, and hence, and one which most frequently fails, and so with the discovery of a remedy like Mi-o-na stomach tablets, which is sold on an absolute guarantee to strengthen the digestive system, aid in assimilation of food, and cures all troubles caused by indigestion, an important step has been taken towards solving the question of good health and long life.
Take one of the little Mi-o-na tablets before each meal, with the fixed determination that you are going to get well, and it will not be many days before you can eat anything without fear of indigestion.
L. Taggart sells Mi-o-na on an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure. A large box of the tablets costs but 50 cents, if it helps you; nothing if it fails.

Marriage is never a failure but often the contracting parties are.

Sore Nipples.

A cure may be effected by applying Chamberlain's Salve as soon as the child is done nursing. Wipe it off with a soft cloth before allowing the child to nurse. Many trained nurses use this salve with the best results. Price 25 cents per box. Sold by L. Taggart; J. E. Smith, Sterling Run; Crum Bros., Sinnamahoning.

Never judge what a woman does by what her husband tells her to do.

Stomach Troubles.

Mrs. Sue Martin, an old and highly respected resident of Faisonia, Miss., was sick with stomach trouble for more than six months. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets cured her. She says: "I can now eating anything I want and am the proudest woman in the world to find such a good medicine." For sale by L. Taggart; J. E. Smith, Sterling Run; Crum Bros., Sinnamahoning.

All religions have been tried and found satisfactory to the devotees.

Williams' Kidney Pills.

Have you neglected your kidneys? Have you overworked your nervous system and caused trouble with your Kidneys and Bladder? Have you pains in the loins, side, back, groins and bladder? Have you a flabby appearance of the face, especially under the eyes? Too frequent desire to pass urine? If so William's Kidney Pills will cure you. Sample free. By mail 50 cents. Sold by R. C. # THE LAST OF HER ROSES

By J. J. BELL

(Author of "Wee MacGreegor.")

(Copyright, 1906, by Joseph B. Bowles)

On the doorstep of Lavender Cottage Maj. Carruthers showed signs of unsoldierly hesitation. Instead of pulling the bell-handle he pulled his gray mustache and looked back undecidedly at the garden gate through which he had passed ere his courage failed him.

"This will never do," he said to himself, and with an effort he laid his fingers on the bell-handle. A faint tinkle, and presently he was asking a maid, who glanced admiringly at his broad shoulders and bronzed countenance, if Miss Nevile was at home.

Maj. Carruthers found himself in a small drawing-room, the furniture of which was old-fashioned yet arranged without primness. A dainty touch was everywhere evident, and, though the season was late autumn, flowers abounded. He noticed photographs of people as he had met them 20 years before, and he observed with a sigh that his own likeness had no place among them.

He singled out one on the mantelpiece. It was that of a brother officer in his first campaign. "Poor old Jack!" sighed the major; "she has forgotten me, and she has remembered you, though you've been in your grave a score of years. I wonder if you were really engaged to her before—"

He turned suddenly, for the door had opened and Miss Nevile was coming forward to greet him.

"Do you know me, Hilary?" he stammered.

"Know you? Of course, Jim!" was her reply, as she held out a friendly hand.

Maj. Carruthers was surprised and relieved. He had anticipated an awkward meeting, and at best a polite recognition of himself as an old acquaintance whose appearance was a sort of resurrection, but here was Hilary Nevile receiving him as though he had parted from her only yesterday.

"It's awfully good of you!" he cried, boyishly, and then laughed. He could not help it.

"I should have known you by your laugh, anyhow," she said, smiling, and motioning him to a seat.

"And I should have known you by your voice."

Then he became grave. "It's 20 years in December—20 years—since I last saw you."

"Is it so much? I can hardly believe it."

"Neither can I, when I look at you, Hilary."

"You were always abroad any time I happened to be home on leave."

"Yes. For years I had a desire to travel. Now, I'm rather tired of it all, and am quite content to vegetate at Lavender Cottage. I suppose the contentment is a sign of age!" she said.

"Nonsense!" exclaimed her visitor. He was forced to admit that time had changed her, but his heart cried out that she was as sweet and desirable to him as ever.

"I'm 39," she said, bluntly, thinking to shock him.

"Not till January," he returned, simply. "And I'm 50," he added, stoutly.

The maid entered with the tea tray, and on her departure they dropped into a conversation on the past—the past as it had interested both of them. It was natural enough that they should come to speak of Jack Cunningham; but the major was a little surprised that his companion referred to her dead lover without great sadness, though with all gentleness. Her fingers did not tremble as she took the photograph from the mantelpiece and handed it to her visitor.

"Poor old Jack!' he said, softly. "I remember the day he and I went together to have our portraits taken. This is a capital likeness." He wondered what else he could say. After a moment he went on: "Jack was one of those clever fellows who would have come to the top if he had lived. He got ahead of me in everything, Hilary."

"I think you are underrating yourself, Jim," she said, kindly.

"No. It's the truth. But only once was I jealous of his success."

There was a silence, which was broken at last by Miss Nevile. "Would you like to see the companion photo to Jack's?' she asked, with a faint smile.

"Yes. I looked in vain for it on the mantelpiece."

"Excuse me a moment, then, and I'll get it for you."

"Stay, Hilary," said the major, following her to the door. "Is it the same as this?" And he took a worn leather case from his breast pocket. "Is it the same as this?" he asked, opening the case.

Miss Nevile stared for a moment. Her face flushed crimson and then turned very pale. "Oh, no, no!" she whispered, and fled.

"What have I done?" he muttered. "Have I offended her?" He looked longingly at the faded photograph in his hands—how often, in many a far land, he had gazed on the girlish face!—and returned it carefully in its case to his pocket.

His hostess was absent for several minutes, and when she returned she brought no photograph.

"I must let you see it another time," she said, carelessly, almost coldly.

"I have surely offended her," thought the major, miserably. "I'll remind you, Hilary," he said aloud, trying to speak cheerfully. "Was it taken after the one I showed you just now—the one stolen from your mother's album years ago?" he added, with a feeble laugh.

"It—it is quite a different photograph," she replied, turning away her head.

"I suppose you never guessed that I had one of your photos," he said, slowly.

"I never thought you would have stolen it, Jim," she returned, with an attempt at a smile.

"It used to torment me sometimes."

"So you weren't without a conscience after all!"

"I meant that I—I ought to have let my poor old chum Jack know that I had it."

Miss Nevile started. "What had he to do with it?" she demanded.

"Oh, well—er—when a man's engaged to a girl—er—"

"What are you talking about, Jim?"

"About Jack Cunningham and—and you, Hilary."

"Well, then, you are talking nonsense!'

"You mean there was no engagement? Forgive me, forgive me. But you see, Jack told me, just before we were ordered to India, that he had an understanding with you."

"Oh!"

"And later he told me he hoped soon to be formally engaged. I was going to write, congratulating you—I wanted to be the first, you know—but he begged me to delay a little. And then came that night in the hills when we were attacked and nearly cut to pieces, and Jack saved my life, and—and lost his own." Maj. Carruthers stopped speaking and walked over to the window.

Miss Nevile hid her face in her hands. Her heart was in a turmoil. Could she tell her old friend—her old friend who might have been so much more to her—that the man who had saved his life had also deceived him—that the hero had lied and stolen a double happiness? She could not tell him, and she would not. Had it not been for Jack Cunningham she would not have lost Jim Carruthers for the best years of her life and his—how she hated the liar! Yet . . . had it not been for Jack Cunningham she would have lost Jim Carruthers forever—how she blessed the hero! And now she must allow the man she loved to believe that her heart had been his old chum's even as the latter had said.

The major came back from the window and touched her gently on the shoulder.

"I shouldn't have spoken about it, Hilary. I'm sorry, very sorry, that I've hurt you, and I've wished often that I could have changed places with dear old Jack. Now I'll go."

She rose and faced him with tearless eyes. If only he would understand a little—not all—without being told. And oh! if only he had been bold and asked her a question 20 years ago!

She went with him to the door and walked down the garden path towards the gate. Their tongues seemed tied until the major, halting abruptly, pointed to a rosebush and said quietly: "Will you give me that rose, Hilary?"

"Yes, if you wish it. But perhaps I can find you another more perfect." She looked about her, and then shook her head and sighed. "No. There are no more. You must have this one. It is the last of my roses Jim," she observed, with a thin smile.

She broke it from the stem and gave it to him. He took it and her hand with it. He looked at her face and saw the lines that Time had begun to trace, and he loved her more for every one of them.

"It was good of you to give me your last rose, Hilary," he said, gazing at her in a puzzled fashion.

"Oh, Jim," she whispered, breaking down, "my first rose and all my roses were yours had you asked for them."

"You mean, if I had come in spring," he stammered.

"If you had come in spring."

The full meaning of her words did not reach him—how could it? Yet he understood enough to make him glad; he understood that in some strange way she had kept a small place in her heart for him all these years, that somehow she had grown to care for him in spite of Jack Cunningham's memory, and that she would have welcomed him had he come to her a few months earlier.

"Oh, Hilary," he cried, when they were in the drawing-room again, "I could never have hoped for this!"

"What? The last of my roses?" she asked. "For it's all I have to give you, dear Jim," she added, half gayly, half sadly.

The major took her by the shoulders and shook her tenderly. "The last of your roses is the first of mine, and God knows how sweet it is," he cried, and kissed her.

But was it the last of her roses? Of course not! You can't help a woman making a foolish remark now and then.

PAN-AMERICAN ROAD

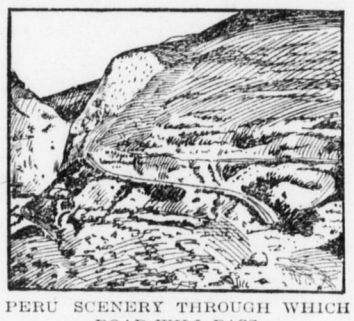
ROUTE PROPOSED BETWEEN ALASKA AND PATAGONIA.

The Dream of Charles M. Pepper, United States and Pan-American Railway Commissioner.

Years ago, when Cecil Rhoades was in the height of his African successes and was doing more than any other man to develop the British interests there, he startled the world by his proposal of a Cape to Cairo railroad, and, in spite of the skepticism of most people, went steadily ahead with his plans, and to-day what people then declared was but a wild dream has come very near being a reality.

In this country to-day we hear talk of an Alaska to Patagonia railroad, and we think of it as a bit of romancing, but its projector is just as much in earnest as was Rhoades in regard to his African continental road, and he declares he expects to see his plans realized some day.

The man who is so daring as to suggest such a vast enterprise is Mr. Charles M. Pepper. He is United



PERU SCENERY THROUGH WHICH ROAD WILL PASS.

States and Pan-American railway commissioner, and he maintains that his project, far from being impossible, is already probable and the direct corollary to the Monroe doctrine. He quotes the late George M. Pullman, who, keen student of railway development as he was, predicted that one day there would be through sleepers between Denver and Buenos Ayres.

Mr. Pepper has seen Pan-American conditions both as a newspaper correspondent and as a delegate to the Pan-American congress in 1901, and since his appointment as railway commissioner he has made a costly survey with a view of a Pan-American railroad. Such a road as he proposes involves the cooperation of 15 of the South American republican, and the rail links necessary to complete such a system would be 5,000 miles in length and would cost $200,000,000.

To show that the plans for this gigantic system have passed beyond the problematic stage, Mr. Pepper says:

"It may be said that in the beginning of 1906 every Central and every South American country has a definite policy of aiding railway construction as an integral part of the Pan-American system, and some of them, as in the case of Peru and Bolivia, have enacted special legislation. All of them are sympathetic toward an intercontinental trunk line, because it coincides with their plans for internal development and external trade."

The project as it appears on the profile of the map of the survey made by W. T. Shunk, as engineer-in-chief from 1892 to 1898, shows the general direction of the road to be northwest and southeast along the giant chains of the Andes. The governing principle is a long continental backbone with branch ribs in every direction, taking into consideration mineral, agricultural and timber resources, without omitting climatic conditions.

Mr. Pepper has prepared a table showing what parts of the proposed system are already in operation and what parts are under consideration. The road from New York to Laredo, Tex., 2,187 miles, is in operation, as is also that from Laredo to Mexico City. From Mexico City to the Guatemala border there are 730 miles of road, of which 680 are being operated. In Central America there are 351 miles in operation, 100 miles being built and 592 miles projected. In Panama 612 projected. In Colombia, 20 miles in operation and 845 miles projected. In Ecuador 126 miles in operation, 77 miles in construction and 455 miles projected. In Peru there are 277 miles in operation, 223 miles under construction and 1,285 projected. In Bolivia 233 miles in operation, 128 miles under construction and 180 miles projected. And in the Argentine republic there are 1,033 miles of road in operation and 135 miles under construction.

In an imaginary trip over the future system, Mr. Pepper grows enthusiastic over the wonderful display of natural beauties along the line of the road. When the twentieth-century tourist takes the through railway journey, "he will see the relation of sea-level plains, inter-mountain plateaux, profound valleys, shallow depressions, rushing rivers, mighty gulches, tortuous canyons, sinuous passes, the sparkling verdure and the brilliant foliages of the tropics, the treeless regions of the Andes desert, naked cliffs and jutting precipices, fleece-hidden summits, and the pinnacled peaks of the eternal snows, often passing from the rankest wealth of nature to its most sterile and grudging gifts, almost as swiftly as the imagination can conceive the change."

THE CHOICE OF PAINT.

Fifty years ago a well-painted house was a rare sight; to-day an unpainted house is rarer. If people knew the real value of paint a house in need of paint would be "scarcer than hen's teeth." There was some excuse for our forefathers. Many of them lived in houses hardly worth preserving; they knew nothing about paint, except that it was pretty; and to get a house painted was a serious and costly job. The difference between their case and ours is that when they wanted paint it had to be made for them; whereas when we need paint we can go to the nearest good store and buy it, in any color or quality ready for use. We know, or ought to know by this time, that to let a house stand unpainted is most costly, while a good coat of paint, applied in season, is the best of investments. If we put off the brief visit of the painter we shall in due time have the carpenter coming to pay us a long visit at our expense. Lumber is constantly getting scarcer, dearer and poorer, while prepared paints are getting plentier, better and less expensive. It is a short-sighted plan to let the valuable lumber of our houses go to pieces for the want of paint.

For the man that needs paint there are two forms from which to choose; one is the old form, still favored by certain unprogressive painters who have not yet caught up with the times—lead and oil; the other is the ready-for-use paint found in every up-to-date store. The first must be mixed with oil, driers, turpentine and colors before it is ready for use; the other need only be stirred up in the can and it is ready to go on. To buy lead and oil, colors, etc., and mix them into a paint by hand is, in this twentieth century, about the same as refusing to ride in a trolley car because one's grandfather had to walk or ride on horseback when he wanted to go anywhere. Prepared paints have been on the market less than fifty years, but they have proved on the whole so inexpensive, so convenient and so good that the consumption today is something over sixty million gallons a year and still growing. Unless they had been in the main satisfactory, it stands to reason there would have been no such steady growth in their use.

Mixed paints are necessarily cheaper than paint of the hand-mixed kind, because they are made in a large way by machinery from materials bought in large quantities by the manufacturer. They are necessarily better than paints mixed by hand, because they are more finely ground and more thoroughly mixed, and because there is less chance of the raw materials in them being adulterated. No painter, however careful he may be, can ever be sure that the materials he buys are not adulterated, but the large paint manufacturer does know in every case, because everything he buys goes through the chemist's hands before he accepts it.

Of course there are poor paints on the market (which are generally cheap paints). So there is poor flour, poor cloth, poor soap; but because of that do we go back to the hand-mill, the hand-loom and the soap-kettle of the backwoods No, we use our common sense in choosing goods. We find out the reputation of the different brands of flour, cloth and soap; we take account of the standing of the dealer that handles them, we ask our neighbors. So with paint; if the manufacturer has a good reputation, if the dealer is responsible, if our neighbors have had satisfaction with it, that ought to be pretty good evidence that the paint is all right.

"Many men of many kinds"—
Many paints of many kinds;

but while prepared paints may differ considerably in composition, the better grades of them all agree pretty closely in results. "All roads lead to Rome," and the paint manufacturers, starting by different paths, have all the same object—to make the best paint possible to sell for the least money, and so capture and keep the trade.

There is scarcely any other article of general use on the market to-day that can be bought with anything like the assurance of getting your money's worth as the established brands of prepared paint. The paint you buy today may not be like a certain patent medicine, "the same as you have always bought," but if not, it will be because the manufacturer has found a way of giving you a better article for your money, and so making more sure of your next order.

FACTS ABOUT STAMPS.

A specialist who collects the stamps of France and her colonies recently sold his collection for $11,000.

It takes a stamp collector to tell where are Ancash, Antofagasta, Apurimac, Chiapa, Diego Suarez, Bamra, Yca, Wadwhan, Goliad, Jhino, Ujong, Faridkot, Nabba and Obock.

It requires more than 40 large albums to house the collection of United States stamps owned by the earl of Crawford. This collection of United States stamps is thought to be the most complete in existence.

The credit of originating adhesive stamps is generally given to James Chalmers, of Dundee, Scotland. He first advocated them in 1837, and in accordance with a legislative enactment of December 21, 1839, they were issued for public use in England May 6, 1840.

Advice Easily Followed.

"Speak every day to some one who you know is your superior," said Edward Everett Hale. An easy duty. If you wife is not at home say something to the cook.—Kansas City Journal.

Getting It Down Fine.

The two hundred and fiftieth part of an inch is a millimeter. The two millionth part of a millimeter is what Dr. P. E. Shaw, of England, is measuring. The unaided eye cannot perceive much less than one-tenth of a millimeter. With the help of a microscope the eye can see as little as 1-5,000 millimeter. The measuring medium used for engineering gauges will detect differences of 1-8,000 millimeter. By using interference bands of light we can perceive movement of 1-100,000 millimeter.—Scientific American.

Townsmen and Countrymen.

That the townsman is shorter lived than the countryman is incontrovertible. Dr. Tatham calculated that in the rural districts of England the average expectation of life at birth is 51.48 years for males and 54.04 for females, whereas in Manchester it is only 28.78 for males and 32.67 for females, which means that each male has to sacrifice 10.48 years, or 39 per cent. of his life, and each female 9.82 years, or 34 per cent. of her life for the privilege of being born in an urban area.—Popular Science Monthly.

Largest Electric Plant.

Chicago is to have the largest electric light and power station in the world. It will be a steam turbine plant, and all the boilers are to be equipped with automatic stokers, so that no manual handling of the coal will be necessary. There will be an electrical kitchen where substantial meals will be cooked by electricity for the employes. There will be a refrigerating apparatus, an ice plant, a number of bedrooms, as well as locker rooms, baths and other conveniences.

Giant Exhumed.

Workmen engaged on excavations alongside an ancient Roman Catholic chapel at Bristol, England, recently unearthed in a deep trench the coffin of Patrick O'Brien, a giant from Kinsale, who died in Bristol 100 years ago. His height was eight feet four inches. Identity was established by the coffin plate. The coffin and remains will be reburied.

Planted in Cans.

Mr. Gardner—Well, dear, how are the tomatoes you planted?

Mrs. Gardner—Oh, John! I'm afraid we'll have to buy what we need, this year.

"Why how's that, Mary?"

"I recollected to-day that when I did the planting I forgot to open the cans!"—Puck.

No Right to "American."

The supreme court of San Joaquin county, California, has decided that no one can acquire exclusive right to the word "American" in business. The decision was given in the suit of the American Fish company, of Sacramento, against the American Fish and Oyster company, of Stockton.

Dog-Shearing Motor.

On the banks of the Seine recently considerable surprise was caused by a perambulating motor for shearing dogs. The engine is two and one-half horsepower and can shear six dogs an hour. There is little doubt that before long this means of clipping will be generally adopted.

Girl's Invention.

A 15-year-old girl, of Brussels, has invented a portable turn-table for reversing the direction of motor cars. The apparatus is fixed on the chassis, which has a driving-wheel at each end and is worked by an electric motor. It has been patented.

Retort Courteous.

"Hold your tongue for a fool," growled Mr. Naggs, who was trying to absorb some information from his paper.

"Oh, very well," rejoined his better half. "I didn't know you wanted to talk."—Chicago Daily News.

Found a New One.

"I spent a delightful hour in the park conservatory yesterday," Mrs. Lapsling was saying. "Among their potted plants they've got some of the finest collections of bicuspids I ever saw in my life."—Chicago Tribune.

ATTACKED THE HEART

Awful Neuralgia Case Cured to Stay Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Neuralgia in any form is painful but when it attacks the heart it is frequently fatal. Complicated with indigestion of a form that affected the vital organ it threatened serious consequences in an instance just reported. The case is that of Mr. F. L. Graves, of Pleasanthill, La., who tells of his trouble and cure as follows:

"I traveled considerably, was exposed to all kinds of weather and was irregular in my sleeping and eating. I suppose this was the cause of my sickness, at any rate, in May, 1905, I had got so bad that I was compelled to quit work and take to my bed. I had a good doctor and took his medicine faithfully but grew worse. I gave up hope of getting better and my neighbors thought I was surely going to die.

"I had smothering spells that it is awful to recall. My heart fluttered and then seemed to cease beating. I could not lie on my left side at all. My hands and feet swelled and so did my face. After reading about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a newspaper I decided to try them and they suited my case exactly. Before long I could see an improvement and after taking a few boxes I was entirely cured. I am glad to make this statement and wish it could cause every sufferer to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do not simply deaden pain; they cure the trouble which causes the pain. They are guaranteed to contain no narcotic, stimulant or opiate. Those who take them run no danger of forming any drug habit. They act directly on the blood and it is only through the blood that any medicine can reach the nerves.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N.Y.

Seemed a Long Time.

Jim was ten years of age and of an adventurous spirit. Instead of going to school he started out to join a band of buccaneers, leaving a letter of farewell for his mother. He had gone pretty far afield when he was caught in the rain. Growing miserable and hungry, the young adventurer then gave up his idea of a piratical career and came home very late at night. He met with a chilling reception. The clock ticked, his father's newspaper crackled and his sister did not look up from her book. Even his mother did not seem to care whether he had returned or not. The cat, however, not being in the conspiracy of silence, came and rubbed against his leg. Jim stooped and petted it, and then in a desperate attempt to open up the conversation he remarked plaintively: "Is this the same old car that you had when I went away?"—Tattler.

Where Genius Fails.

They have traced the story of earth and her myriad children in the rocks, wherever it was written by the hand of nature herself, and neither the infinitely great nor the infinitely little has escaped the vigilance of their scrutiny. But the genius has yet to be born who can state and explain the laws which govern the gyrations of a collar-button, dropped by an angry man at the dressing-table, and found a week later by his wife among the rubbish under the grate.

Gave an Artistic Description.

A sweet girl student thus described the manner in which a goat butted the boy out of the front yard: "He hurried the previous end of his anatomy against the boy's afterward with an earnestness and velocity which, backed by the ponderosity of the goat's avoirdupois, imparted a momentum that was not relaxed until the boy landed on terra firma beyond the pale of the goat's jurisdiction."—Western Kansas Publisher.

A BUSY WOMAN

Can Do the Work of 3 or 4 If Well Fed.

An energetic young woman living just outside of New York, writes:

"I am at present doing all the housework of a dairy farm, caring for 2 children, a vegetable and flower garden, a large number of fowls, besides managing an extensive exchange business through the mails and pursuing my regular avocation as a writer for several newspapers and magazines (designing fancy work for the latter) and all the energy and ability to do this I owe to Grape-Nuts food.

"It was not always so, and a year ago when the shock of my nursing baby's death utterly prostrated me and deranged my stomach and nerves so that I could not assimilate as much as a mouthful of solid food, and was in even worse condition mentally, he would have been a rash prophet who would have predicted that it ever would do so.

"Prior to this great grief I had suffered for years with impaired digestion, insomnia, agonizing cramps in the stomach, pain in the side, constipation, and other bowel derangements, all these were familiar to my daily life. Medicines gave me no relief—nothing did, until a few months ago, at a friend's suggestion, I began to use Grape-Nuts food, and subsequently gave up coffee entirely and adopted Postum Food Coffee at all my meals.

"To-day I am free from all the troubles I have enumerated. My digestion is simply perfect, I assimilate my food without the least distress, enjoy sweet, restful sleep, and have a buoyant feeling of pleasure in my varied duties. In fact, I am a new woman, entirely made over, and I repeat, I owe it all to Grape-Nuts and Postum Coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

THE KENTUCKY BLUE GRASS.
(Poa Pratensis.)

and a pasture of this grass, if taken care of, will last for many years. The grass starts to grow very early in the spring and flowers in the northern United States in June. It likes a limestone soil, and on a soil rich in lime it establishes itself by forming a very compact sod.

This grass is better adapted to pasture than to hay meadow, for the reason that it does not work well into the rotations. It takes three or four years for it to form a compact sod. When a pasture has been once taken by blue grass, the farmer has something that will stay by him through cold and heat, flood and drouth. In Kentucky the farmers pride themselves on the luxuriance of their blue grass pastures, some of which are more than 50 years old. It flowers but once in the season, but after being grazed or cut it quickly sends up a new vigorous growth.

The grass does well in rather dry soils, but will adapt itself to almost any soil, even to the wet meadows. In Kentucky and other states in which the winters are mild it is used,, says the Farmers' Review, for winter pastures and it is not infrequent that herds are kept on it the year around. It does particularly well where trees are scattered about to give it a partial shade during the hot days of summer.

COMPOSTING MANURE.

Methods of Handling So as to Hasten Its Preparation for Application to Soil.

All manure used as top dressing on garden and flower beds should be well rotted, so as to be immediately available. If rotted manure cannot be obtained, green manure can be made available in a week's time by stacking and turning. Take a load of fresh stable manure and fork it over, throwing out or breaking up all lumps. If it is dry add water. Make a firm, compact, conical-shaped heap, as this form offers the least surface to the air and will turn off rain. Turn the heap every day, shaking the manure thoroughly and placing the outside portion of the heap on the inside of the new heap, adding a little water if necessary. In a surprisingly short time a lot of raw manure can be turned into fine plant food.

If one has any considerable quantity of manure to scatter, a manure spreader will be found a good investment, recommends the Farmers' Voice, as it saves half the labor and distributes the manure in fine particles, which are immediately converted into plant food after the first rain.

Good Sheep Pasture.

Winter rye is an excellent sheep pasture. If sown early it can be utilized in the fall. Sheep should be taken off during the cold weather, but when growth starts in the spring they can be turned on again. By keeping the rye from heading, a large quantity of forage may be secured from an acre.

Planting Potatoes.

Plant potatoes five to six inches deep in good rich soil, in order that the plant may have room to form roots to accommodate the tubers. If planted deeper than this the crop will be short unless the ground is unusually loose.

Old Flavored Butter.

When cream is kept at a high temperature for a long time the butter is apt to have an old flavor. On the other hand if the cream is kept long at a temperature below 50 butter may be bitter.

TALES ABOUT WRITERS.

The late Henry Harland is said to have received $70,000 from one of his novels, but his manner of working killed him.

M. Jusserand, the French ambassador to this country, is a voluminous author, whose works abundantly show the thoroughness of the writer.

Dr. William Henry Drummond, the poet of the French-Canadians, has given up his medical practice and gone into copper mining in the dominion.

A volume by the well-known Italian tenor, Signor Caruso, containing caricatures of members of the company as well as the staff is attracting much attention. The singer will give the profits of the sale of the book to the Italian Benevolent institute and its hospital.

Bliss Perry, editor of the Atlantic Monthly, is appointed to a professorship in English literature in Harvard college, a chair which has remained vacant since 1866 and which before that time was occupied by George Ticknor, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow and James Russell Lowell.

The "poet's corner" in the cemetery of the Alexander Newski cloister in St. Petersburg has been augmented by the grave of Myrrha Lichwizkaya (Yibert), one of the few Russian women who have attained eminence for their poetry. She was the daughter of a prominent lawyer in St. Petersburg, where she was born in 1869. In 1896 her first volume of poems was issued; three other volumes followed. Her verse is characterized by oriental touches, and her favorite theme is love.

The hitherto unpublished love letters of Mme. de Stael to Benjamin Constant, which are to be printed soon, promise to awaken interest in the legal ownership of letters of importance in the world of literature. The publication of the letters in question has been authorized by the Baroness de Nolde, who is a descendant of Constant's wife, the Baroness von Mahrenholtz; but the de Broglie family, Mme. de Stael's direct descendants, are said to be strongly opposed to it.

From Philadelphia.

The visitor from Philadelphia had been taken in hand by his Pittsburg friends and shown the sights of the city, from the Carnegie Art institute to the belching furnaces of Homestead together with other points of semi-historical interest. The visitors was naturally impressed with the action and snappiness of the city.

"Now," said the visitor, gratefully, "I must try to repay you for your courtesy whenever you come to my town. By the by, have you ever been in Philadelphia?"

"Yes," said the Pittsburger, "I spent several years there—in one afternoon!"—Pittsburg Gazette

New Light on Scriptures.

A former bishop of the Episcopal church of Indiana once preached to a black congregation. At the conclusion of the discourse, several of the negroes crowded about the preacher and praised his sermon, saying it was the best they had ever heard. One enthusiast exclaimed:

"Bishop, you tol' us things we nevah knew befo'."

"Indeed," said the bishop, gratified at the praise. "What was it I told you that you never knew before?"

"'Bout Sodom an' Gomorrah. Why, bishop, I always thought they was a man an' his wife."—The Reader.

GAVE THE RIGHT ANSWER.

How the Late John Hay Displayed His Aptitude for the Law.

When the late Secretary Hay applied for admission to the bar at Illinois he was summoned to appear before a committee of prominent Chicago lawyers to be examined as to his qualifications, relates the American Spectator.

He went to the place appointed and found the committee assembled; but for a long time they took no notice of the young candidate, but continued to talk vigorously together on various subjects. At last one of the lawyers, turning to him, said:

"Mr. Hay, what would you do if a client should come to you with such a case as this?" and he proceeded to describe very elaborately a complicated legal case.

"I should ask for a retaining fee of $50," promptly replied Mr. Hay, "and tell him to call to-morrow."

"Mr. Hay, you are admitted," said the gentleman, and with a hearty laugh from all present the proceedings closed.

She Proudly sails the waves,
Her keel is built of hemlock boards,
Her sides of barrel staves.
We got her for a battleship,
But as we have no guns,
With cucumbers we'll fill her up,
To carry fifty tons.
So here's to long life and success,
We surely will not fail,
To boom the town of Cameron,
With cucumbers for sale.

The pleasant party then dispersed well pleased with the day's recreation.
